The Court orders that the motion to waive fees is GRANTED for this case only.

The delayed application for leave to appeal is DENIED for lack of merit in the grounds presented. Because defendant's self-styled "motion for postconviction dismissal based on radical jurisdictional defects and actual innocence" expressly indicated that it was not filed pursuant to MCR subchapter 6.500, the trial court could not have committed error requiring reversal by denying it. See MCR 6.501; People v Harris, 500 Mich 874 (2016). For purposes of MCR 6.502(G), however, we note that because defendant's motion was not filed under MCR subchapter 6.500, in any future case, it should not be regarded as having been a motion for relief from judgment. See People v Giuchici, 503 Mich 884 (2018).
